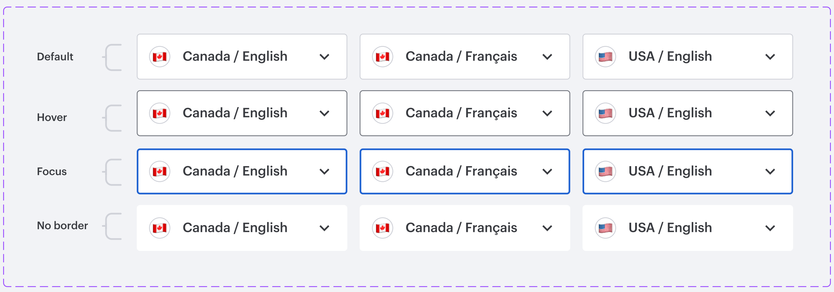
Language Selector

Allows users to choose their geographic region and preferred language. It is used across the public site and directory to ensure content localization, compliance, and regional personalization.

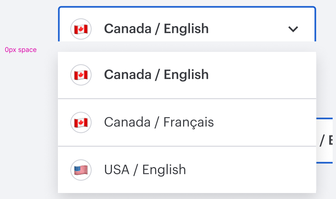
Main Component

Use Instance Of This In Your File

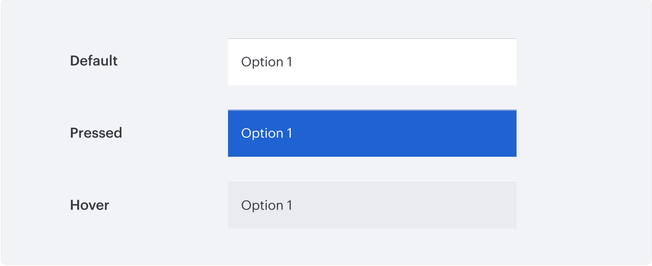


Expanded

Use with focus state. Top and bottom margins should be 4px. The dropdown menu should be placed on top of content. It should not push down any content.



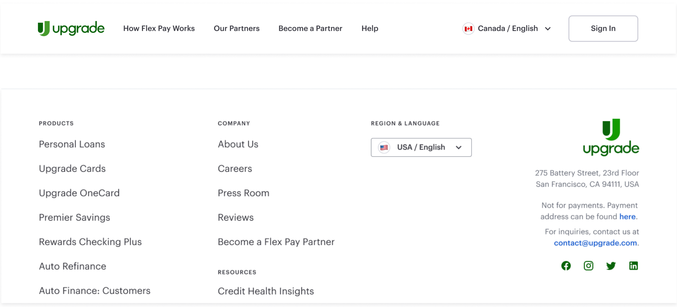
Row Interactions

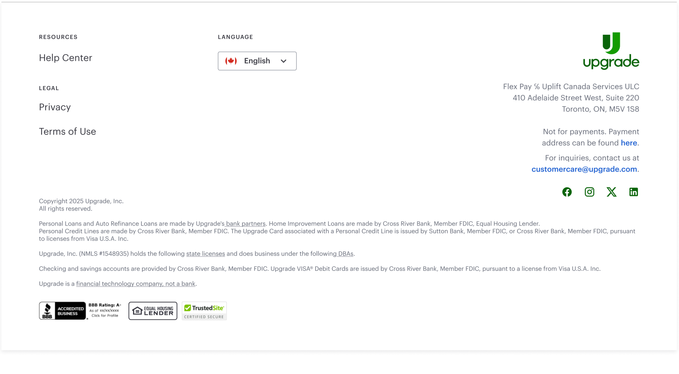


USAGE

For Public Site

Region and Language control. Positioned in the global header, aligned with navigation actions, no-border variant. Use bordered variant for the footer.



For Directory


Region is fixed based on the user context. Allow users to change language only.